

Journal of European Landscapes

A new, interdisciplinary journal on landscape research

The Journal of European Landscapes (JEL) stimulates and promotes both empirical research and reflexive thinking on the history and heritage of the landscapes of Europe.

As a result of growing economic interdependence and political integration, Europe becomes ever more important as a spatial framework for research. This is particularly true for landscape research. The development of landscapes is highly dependent on the politics of the European Union. Policies on landscape and heritage are increasingly influenced by international cooperation.

For disciplines with a geographical dimension, such as archaeology, landscape and heritage, this results in comparative research in regions in Europe and, sometimes, on Europe as a whole. As a result, there is a growing awareness of the European dimensions of landscape and heritage. Although landscape is a theme that is increasingly studied on a European level (in fact, landscape is often described as a typical European theme), there is no journal that focuses on landscape.

The Journal of European Landscapes is accepting publications now! The first issue will be published in 2016.

The journal publishes two issues per year, one regular issue and one themed issue. The journal welcomes contributions on landscape research from all disciplines, with a focus on the areas of history, archaeology, geography, and heritage.

Journal of European Landscapes

2016
VOLUME 1
NO. 1

Amsterdam
University
Press

Editors

Prof. Jan Kolen, Leiden University (Editor in Chief)
Prof. Hans Renes, Utrecht University (Editor in Chief)
Rita Hermans, MA, VU University Amsterdam
Mara de Groot, MA, Leiden University
Arjan Conijn, MA

Editorial Board

Prof. Ellen Braae, University of Copenhagen
Prof. Veerle van Eetvelde, Ghent University
Prof. Carola Hein, Delft University of Technology
Sjoerd Kluiving, PhD, VU University Amsterdam
Prof. Thomas Meier, University of Heidelberg
Prof. Hannes Palang, Tallinn University
Dr. Stefano Piastra, Università di Bologna
Prof. Sam Turner, Newcastle University
Dr. Magali Watteaux, Université de Rennes 2

For more information, please visit:
www.europeanlandscapes.org.